Mums share a day of baby joy with royalty

THREE new mums from Haverhill shared a special day with royalty after having their babies on the same day as the new prince.

While the country's eyes remained fixed on London's St Mary's Hospital, three women were bringing their own bundles of joy into the world.

All three went into labour at the same time as the Duchess of Cambridge, who gave birth to Prince George Alexander Louis at 4.24pm on Monday.

One mum was Noreen Heffron, of Haverhill, who had her third child, Shay Jonathan Heffron, at 12.46pm.

The 8lbs 8oz baby boy was delivered by C-section in the Lady Mary Ward at the Rosie Hospital, Cambridge.

Noreen, 41, said: "Being an older mum, the staff here were absolutely amazing. I think Kate missed out by not having her birth here."

"I think it is fantastic to have had Shay on the same day. There was an absolute buzz about the place. I am delighted for their family."

Meanwhile, Hannah Steed, also of Haverhill, gave birth to 7lbs Darcie Harper just over an hour after the new prince at 5.46pm.

ELEANOR DICKINSON

The 23-year-old first time mum is a supervisor at Millie's Cookies in Cambridge's Grafton Centre and was supported through the birth of her baby girl by partner Joshua Marper, a DJ at city nightclub Ballare.

She said: "I arrived at the Rosie at 7.30am and it was my mum who first told me that Kate was in labour too."

"Me and my midwife had a joke running all day about how I was going to race her for the first birth but I just missed out."

"You never know, Darcie might meet the prince one day and become a queen!"

Meanwhile at West Suffolk Hospital in Bury St Edmunds, Kelly Griffin and Glenn Ditchman welcomed their own little girl Darcie just 43 minutes before the Prince of Cambridge was born.

23-year-old Miss Griffin spent 12 hours in labour before delivering the 6lb 8oz baby at 3.41pm.

Darcie's father, Mr Ditchman, 29, said: "It's not every day your child is born at the same time as the future king."

"It's quite a special moment, I suppose."

Posters revealed for fitness campaign

TWO more cover stars were unveiled as part of Active Haverhill's fitness campaign. Hazel Cheal and Danny Proffitt were announced as the campaign's new poster figures at Haverhill Leisure Centre on Tuesday, as part of a push to encourage more people to take up exercise in St Edmundsbury.

Formerly known as Abbeycroft's Active St Eds Campaign, the Active Campaign aims to promote a healthy, physical lifestyle through a series of posters and a points scheme for people using the leisure centre.

New cover star Ms Cheal told her story of how she lost 9 stone in 18 months. She said: "If my story inspires just one other person, it's worth it."

"I am happier, fitter, healthier and stronger than I have ever been in my life. "So never think you are too big, too old or it's too late to start."

Supported by St Edmundsbury Borough Council and NHS Suffolk, the campaign has already attracted more than 4,000 people to the Active campaign's website since it was introduced a year ago, with more than 800 signing up to the points scheme.

Abbeycroft's Partnership Manager Michelle Banfield-Curran said: "Our centres are full of people with great stories who are actively changing their lives through exercise and our new Cover Stars represent this year's inspiring journeys. We're proud to be able to help them with their goals and support them on their mission to be healthy and happy."

Robber tracked down by phone

A ROBBER who was tracked down by a recycled mobile phone has been jailed.

Jamie Dale, 22, of Boxford Court, Haverhill, denied robbing a man in the street in July last year. He was found guilty by a majority verdict at Ipswich Crown Court on Thursday, July 17 and jailed for six years.

Dale met the victim, who had been drinking, in Haverhill Bus Station where he began to walk alongside him.

Moments later two other men appeared and attacked the man, kicking and punching him before knocking him to the floor. Dale then snatched the phone and a wallet.

Giving evidence the victim said: "Whenever I tried to get up I got punched back down again."

DEBRA FOX

He recognised Dale in a police identity parade of nine men.

The 22-year-old was detained after he tried to sell the stolen phone, which was worth £150, to Haverhill's Cash and Cheque Exchange for £42.

Staff at the exchange ran checks on the phone and discovered it was stolen.

When Dale was arrested in November he said: "I bought the phone from a Polish lad for £20 for myself. I changed my mind. I had no idea that it had been stolen."

Judge John Holt told Dale he would serve his six year sentence concurrently to a further robbery charge he is already in jail for.

ROBBERY: Jamie Dale will serve six years.

Car tyres slashed

POLICE are appealing for information after all four tyres on a blue hatchback car were punctured after it was parked on Castle Avenue in Haverhill.

The incident took place between 2pm on Sunday and 8.30am on Monday.

If you have any information relating to this, please contact PC Adam Fayars at Bury St Edmunds on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Animal magic

LITTLE Wonders nursery will be holding an animal day next month.

Pigs, sheep, ducks and a Shetland pony will be taken in for the morning.

The children will get the chance to play at being animals themselves by making their own masks.

There will also be a picnic, and everything on the day will be to do with animals.

Little Wonders' animal day will take place on August 2 from 10.30 until 12.30.

Pixies, fairies and happy faces: children sparkle in nursery show

THERE were many smiles from both toddlers and parents alike after children from Happy Faces Nursery performed a show for a delighted audience.

The children dressed up as various pixie and fairy characters in a re-creation of an enchanted forest.

Wearing costumes made by themselves, with a little help from their parents, the children wowed the audience of more than 60 friends and family members.

Happy Faces manager Elaine Hatfield said: "It was an absolutely fantastic day. Both the parents and the children loved it."

"It was quite a bittersweet occasion too, as some of the children who have been here for two years are leaving us."

The children donned their homemade costumes of pointed ears and fairy wings for a delighted audience of parents and grandparents.

Also in the audience were the Haverhill Town Mayor Roger Andre and Deputy Mayor Maureen Byrne.

The performance was then followed by a picnic and ice-cream in the sunshine.

Ms Hatfield said: "The show was also to say a big thank you to the parents for all the support they have given over the year.

"We tried to do something to make it as pleasurable for them as possible."

Places are still available at Happy Faces for this coming September.

For more information, please contact Elaine Hatfield on 01440 762 515

NEWS IN BRIEF

Longest running book fair in Suffolk to take place at weekend

THE biggest and longest running book fair in the county will come to Long Melford this Saturday.

The Missing Book Fair, which runs shows across Suffolk, will arrive at the Village Hall at 10.00am.

With stalls from 26 reputable dealers, the fair promises a wealth of second-hand, out of print and collectable books.

Memorabilia lovers may also be able to purchase postcards and ephemera and homemade refreshments will be available throughout the day.

Admission is £1 and children go free.

Commuters delayed by crash

TWO drivers had a lucky escape after a crash on the A1307 on Monday morning.

Commuters were greeted by scenes of chaos after a collision which took place near Silver Street, Withersfield, at 7.15am.

An ambulance was called to the scene, and both drivers escaped without any injuries.

The road remained closed for two hours while debris from the vehicles was removed.

Shadow puppets inspire children

A SERIES of story-making workshops with shadow puppets will be held next month at Haverhill Library.

Run by Wishworks in partnership with Creative Arts East, the workshops will be held across libraries in Suffolk to coincide with the Summer Reading Challenge.

It is hoped the popularity of Britain's Got Talent winners 'Attraction', with their shadow performance, will create more interest in the workshops.

Anyone interested in a place at the workshops should contact Haverhill library or visit <http://www.suffolklibraries.co.uk>.

Residents reject 'worst town' label

DISGRUNTLED residents have rejected the labelling of Haverhill as one of the 100 worst towns in the country.

In an online poll carried out by haverhill-uk.com, 75% of voters agreed the town did not deserve the labelling.

Such a show of solidarity may help Haverhill in the next round of polls, which see the list being whittled down to the top 50.

Pat Deane expressed her disappointment of the town's label.

She said: "I was saddened to read your story on Haverhill this week, saying that it was on the short list for worst town."

"I don't know who comes up with this type of drivel."

"If you were in any doubt as to the community spirit in Haverhill, then I hope you attended the brilliant Summer Bash on the Recreation Ground in town."

"It was great, it had practically everything there for everyone, young and old and there were thousands there, all having a great time."

She added: "There are some bad points about Haverhill, anyone can see that, but there was nothing negative or "crappy" about Haverhill on Sunday."

Haverhill was labelled as one of the UK's worst towns in the latest installment of the book series Crap Towns Returns, written by Sam Jordison and Dan Kieran.

The book, set to be published in October, also ranked Bury St Edmunds and Huntingdon among the worst towns in the country.

Cllr for Haverhill East and Kedington Tony Brown also rejected the book's conclusion.

He said: "When I heard the news I just thought here we go again. These polls are normally done by people who have never lived here or even been here."

"Haverhill is a great place to live. I have been here 50 years now, and it's a great community here, and that was shown by the people at the Summer Bash."

He added: "It's quite sad because of the number of people who make this town such a good place to live."

But, somewhat confusingly, picturesque towns such as York, Stratford-Upon-Avon and Oxford have also made the top 100 along with arguably more the likely candidates of Gateshead, Hackney and Blackpool.

The book's writers are now offering people the chance to either embrace or snub the crap town label by posting views and videos to Twitter under the hashtags #craptown or #notacraptown.

Olympic swimmer to attend charity casino night

COMMONWEALTH Champion and Olympic swimmer, Adam Whitehead will be guest of honour at a charity casino night to be held at Ickworth House, Bury St. Edmunds, in September. Organised by 1st Stop Recruitment, the corporate event will help raise funds for the Dame Kelly Holmes Trust.

Mr Whitehead competed for Team GB in the Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia, in 2000 in the 100m and 200m breaststroke. Business development manager at Stop Katrina Smith said: "With the London Olympics 2012 and success of British Athletes still fresh in our minds, as well as Andy Murray's latest victory at Wimbledon this summer, we are delighted to be joined by Adam Whitehead."

Thousands descend for Summer Bash

CROWDS flocked in their thousands to the Summer Bash last weekend.

An estimated 7,000 visitors descended on Haverhill Recreation Ground on Sunday for a day of traditional, carnival-style activities ranging from a baby show to a tug of war.

With queues stretching the length and breadth of the grounds, this was perhaps the biggest event to hit the town in years.

And according to committee member Fiona Pilcher, next year's event will be bigger and better.

She said: "It was absolutely amazing. It was way beyond any of our wildest dreams. Thousands of people came which was far more than we expected."

"Because of this year's suc-

cess, we only want to make next year's event even bigger and better."

She added: "What was even more fantastic was that almost everything was sourced from Haverhill, from the residents and local businesses. It was a day to celebrate the town and that's what we achieved."

The day got going early on Sunday morning with a lazy car boot sale at 8am.

Opened by the Haverhill Town Mayor Cllr Roger Andre, the festivities then kicked off at 11am, with a baby show, a dog parade and a cake contest taking place throughout the afternoon, while musical and dance acts kept everyone entertained.

Children got the chance to show their creative side with a fancy dress competition, which was judged by the mayor.

He then went on to lead a fleet of classic cars, which included a Ferrari, a Rolls-Royce and even an armoured vehicle.

Show committee chairman David Doughty said: "From the comments from people who have lived in the town for a long time, I think that there hasn't been an event like this for years. One said he hadn't seen the Recreation Ground so full for 40 years."

"It was such a fantastic day, and it was great to see the spirit of the people come together in such a way. The tug of war was great fun and everybody got involved. I had a grin on my face all day."

He added: "We couldn't have done this without the help of the Town Council, we owe them a big thanks."

Following the Summer Bash's success, there are already plans afoot on how to top it next year.

Mr Doughty said: "Next year it would be great if the Summer Bash could run over a whole weekend, I've had people asking me if we could go the full mile with the carnival theme and have some real floats. It would also be great if we could round off the evening with some live music from local bands."

All money made from the day will be given to the disabled charity Lamp H, the town's food bank, the elderly and the scouts.

The final total of money raised is still being counted.

IN THE PINK: Keeping the crowds entertained on Haverhill Recreation Ground proved to be a whole lot of fun all round!

We love this town!

I WANT to support Haverhill, especially against the writers of Crap towns Revisited.

Back in 1970 my wife and I were given a council house, due to the fact that my wife was a teacher. That security counted for a lot back then, as we were newly married.

Since then, we have bought our own house, and watched the town grow and change over the years. It was a great pity that back in 1975-1976 there was not the industrial expansion that there is at present.

We have lived here for 40 years now and have always enjoyed the warm, friendly atmosphere of the town.

People of Haverhill are helpful and supportive, ready to assist if the need arises, be it an elderly person taking a tumble or the support of local charities.

The town is generally clean and attractive, due to the sterling efforts of those who maintain it. Over the years we have travelled much of the British Isles and have seen some wonderful sights. However a few areas of the country have saddened us, with their graffiti-covered property, boarded up buildings and dirty, uncared for properties.

We wonder where the two 'authors' of Crap towns Revisited live themselves!

Mike Wood

Bash was wonderful

I WAS saddened to read your story on Haverhill this week, saying that it was on the short list for the worst town.

I don't know who comes up with this type of drivel, but it has annoyed me enough to get me emailing you.

If you were in any doubt as to the community spirit in Haverhill, then I hope you attended the brilliant Summer Bash on the recreation ground in town on Sunday.

There are some bad points about Haverhill, anyone can see that, but there was nothing negative or 'crappy' about Haverhill today... A great big thank you goes out to all who made today such a success.

Do the right thing

THIS is a copy of an open letter to the Pelly Family (owners of Wilsey Farm, future development area), from Councillor Tony Brown.

I went to the Vision 2031 open day event at the library in Haverhill, to have a look at the plans for the future development of your land at Wilsey farm on Saturday.

I have seen them many times before but I went again partially in the naïve hope that maybe I was wrong in my previous viewings of the documents, but no, my heart sank, they were still the same: 2,500 houses with no real infrastructure, just tenuous coloured blobs on a map with possible shops, possible school.

Your Pictures

SUNLIGHT: Daniel Payne sent us this photo which he took of the sun coming through the trees in the woods

We'd love to see your photos.
Email them, in jpeg form, to debra.fox@cambridge-news.co.uk

The only definite is houses, a link road to possibly cut through an established tree belt, no east town park extension to compensate for our loss of green environment, just more of the same that we have had for the last 40 years.

There are real and justifiable concerns that these houses will appear on the hill to the south of Kedington Village, a bit like the zulu warriors on the hill above Rorkes drift, at any moment threatening to cascade down and overrun the defenders.

I remember meeting Mr Pelly many years ago while doing a job at his other farm near Swaffham and telling him that I lived on the Wilsey Estate at Haverhill. He smiled with a twinkle in his eye and said that's why he had the tree belt put in there so that he wouldn't have to look at all the houses from his house.

I am sure that you would not want to do the same thing to the people of Kedington village. Why not build 500 fewer houses, move back the boundary from Kedington and please make sure we have at least an extension to East Town Park towards Calford Green to go some way in compensating the people of north east Haverhill for the loss of the green environment.

Please do the right thing. Life isn't all about maximising profit. You have enjoyed your green environment for a long time, let our next generation do the same.

Councillor Tony Brown
Haverhill East & Kedington

A successful future

YOUR readers may be interested to understand what the recent announcement by the Government on the privatisation of Royal Mail means for our customers, our business and our people.

The Government has acknowledged it is not a good owner of large businesses. Private ownership will enable Royal Mail to become more flexible and fleet of foot in the fiercely competitive markets in which we operate. We will also have long-term access to capital when we need it. The Government has made clear it doesn't have the money to allocate to Royal Mail ahead of schools and hospitals.

We aim to combine the best of the public and private sectors. The six-day-a-week, one-price-goes-anywhere, affordable universal service will remain unchanged. It is protected by law – enshrined in the Postal Services Act 2011. Any change would have to be passed through an affirmative vote in both Houses of Parliament.

The quality of service regime that applies to Royal Mail under public ownership will continue to apply under private ownership. Ofcom has already specified the minimum standards under regulation. Royal Mail will continue to offer good value for money. UK stamp prices are among the best value in the EU. Our people are at the heart of Royal Mail. The current position is that all terms and conditions that apply now to Royal Mail employees would remain in place, on the same basis, were the company to be sold.

To provide further reassurance, we will create a legally-binding and enforceable contract with the CWU. Pay and protections could not be changed for the period of the contract without CWU agreement. Approximately 150,000 eligible UK employees will receive free shares giving them a 10 per cent stake in the business.

This is the largest free stake than in any other major UK privatisation for almost 30 years.

Many previously Government-owned companies – like Rolls Royce and British Airways – have flourished under private ownership. We believe privatisation will equip Royal Mail for similar success.

Delivery Director Anglia

Run to the beat

I AM writing to ask your readers to be part of something great and join the Diabetes UK team at this year's Run to the Beat, taking place on Sunday, September 8. Across the Eastern Region there are currently 270,000 people living with diabetes, as well as around 80,000 who have Type 2 diabetes but don't know it.

Diabetes is serious – it can lead to devastating complications such as blindness, kidney failure, heart disease, stroke and amputation.

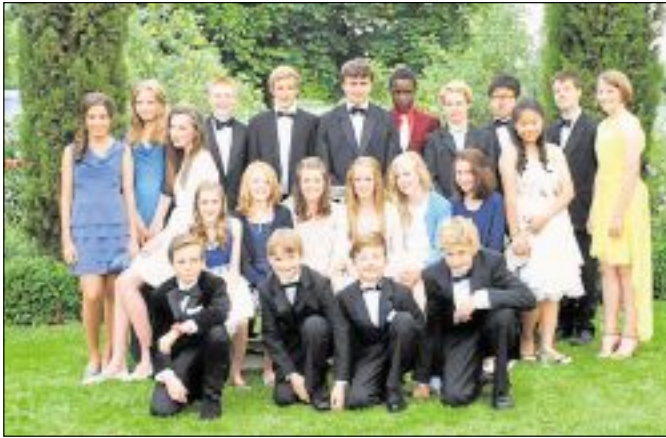

The sponsorship raised by runners taking part in run to the Beat will go into research, services and campaigns. £250 can pay for someone living with diabetes to go to a Family Support Weekend and £365 can pay for a child to go to a week-long event for children and young people.

Run to the Beat is London's most popular half marathon and includes the UK's top DJs playing the latest hits at every mile to motivate runners. There will also be a top headline act to look forward to at the finishing line. All runners who join the Diabetes UK team receive a branded vest complete with personalised lettering, crazy hair, fundraising toolkit, online support and training tips.

If you would like to run for Diabetes UK, then contact the Eastern fundraising team on 01376 505242 or email emma.morgan@diabetes.org.uk.

Leavers don their glad rags for the final party

YEAR 8 pupils at Barnardiston Hall said a fond farewell at their leavers' celebrations last week.

The group of 22 donned their glad rags for a final send-off before moving on to the senior school in September.

Celebrating their successful exam results, the pupils were whisked off to Cambridge and back for a night to remember.

This follows the pupils receiving their examination results, which enabled every Year 8 child to gain entry into their first-choice senior school.

There was even more to celebrate in store too as seven of the 22 children gained eight individual scholarships.

Deciding to celebrate their success in style, the night started with a formal supper, when pupils were waited on by the up-coming Year 8 class.

They were then given the chance to have a go at punting after being taken on detour to Cambridge where they spent the evening on the river.

After returning then to Barnardiston, the principal, Colonel Keith Boulter and the headmaster, Mr Tim Dodgson, rounded off the night with fun and games.

The leaver's night followed on from a trip to Brussels last month, where they were given the chance to have a go at moonwalking at the European Space Centre.

The annual trip abroad came after the stress of taking the common entrance exam.

More fun was in store after the trip when the pupils were then whisked off to London to watch the musical Wicked.

Colonel Boulter said: "We are very proud of all our leavers who have contributed so much to Barnardiston Hall during their time with us."

He added: "The trip to Brussels and the show in London were great fun for both the leavers and staff alike, and very much underlines the family ethos of the school."

Police renew appeal after man is stabbed

ELEANOR DICKINSON

A CONVICTED burglar who was stabbed in Haverhill last week is set to make a full recovery in hospital by next week.

Kevin Forrester, from Montfort Court, was left with life-threatening injuries after being attacked on Harrow Road, last Tuesday.

The 34-year-old man made headlines last year when he was caught by police after booking a taxi with his real name to get away from the scene of a burglary.

Police are still appealing for witnesses who were in the area where the stabbing took place, on Tuesday July 16, and have said their enquiries into the incident are ongoing.

Officers were made aware that Mr Forrester had presented himself at Addenbrooke's Hospital with stab wounds at around 10.55pm that night.

The incident is believed to have occurred between 9.30pm and 10pm and was originally thought to have happened in the vicinity of a toilet block within the Recreation Ground, near to Camps Road.

But, following further enquiries police

ATTACK: Police at the scene of the stabbing last week. They renewed their appeal this week for anyone with information to come forward believe it may be linked to a report of an altercation in a car park on Harrow Road.

Mr Forrester was sentenced to 18 weeks imprisonment for stealing £8,000 worth of music and computer equipment at Bury Magistrates' Court in February 2012.

He then made his getaway by ordering a taxi under his own name.

Police said they have spoken to Mr Forrester in relation to the stabbing, who is currently on the way to making a full recovery and is hoping to be discharged from Addenbrooke's by next week.

However, they have yet to establish a full account of precisely what took place on the night of the 16th.

A Suffolk Police spokeswoman said: "We have had a number of witnesses come forward.

"Police are still continuing to make enquiries and are appealing for any more witnesses to come forward in relation to the incident."

Accountants develop app to help end tax nightmare

A TEAM of accountants from Suffolk has found a way of making balancing the budget easier with a new app.

Jacobs Allen, a chartered accountancy firm, has developed the free app to help solve a number of problems, from sorting out tax, to working out benefits in kind on a company car.

The firm, which has offices in Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds, also hopes to bring a little humour to taxing issues by posting regular updates from businesses both local and world-wide.

Director Paul Donno said: "The app has been carefully crafted to reflect the growing demands of a mobile-oriented society.

"Jacobs Allen are glad to be able to offer such a useful tool, free of charge to both clients and non-clients alike, that allows everyone to stay up to date on the go."

The app will contain features such as the latest tax rates and tables, and calculators to work out things such as payslips and the amount of inheritance tax payable without advice.

It is now available for free at the App Store.

OPEN DAY SUCCESS: Director of PC Recruit Chloe Garrett and new consultant Craig Beasley

Job seekers attend open day

A RECRUITMENT company opened its doors to the public for a special open day this week. PC RECRUIT held the free open day on Tuesday to provide an opportunity for Haverhill job seekers to meet and greet the team, and gain help and advice about local jobs and careers. The day coincided with the appointment of Craig Beasley as the company's newest Recruitment Consultant. Director of PC Recruit Chloe Garrett said: "The Open Day was a real success! Local Job seekers with a real mix of skills were eager to meet our new consultant Craig Beasley. "We also had two local business owners drop in to meet us. One is currently recruiting for several positions at present and would like us to recruit immediately on their behalf and the other is expanding their team over the next three to six months and would like to work with us on an exclusive basis. We were extremely pleased that our Open day attracted both job seekers and local employers. "Based on the calibre of candidates, we are certain we will place some of them straight away into local jobs and beyond.

Job seekers who missed our open day are still welcome to drop in and bring a CV if they have one."

Copper thieves target homes

THIEVES attempted to steal valuable pieces of copper piping from homes across Haverhill this week. Several properties have been damaged after a spate of attempts to steal the copper from within gas pipes. Police are now appealing for any information in relation to these attempted thefts. In one incident, a gas pipe was cut and left hanging in Elmhurst Close, Haverhill between

ELEANOR DICKINSON
10.30pm on Monday 22 and 7.30am and Tuesday 23 July. Similar acts were also discovered across Haverhill, with gas pipes left cut and broken outside properties at Kirtling Place and Hamlet Road. Police have issued a warning of the dangers of tampering with gas pipes and the subsequent risk of leaks. They said that if people are unaware that gas pipes have been tampered with, there is a risk of flames going near what could potentially be leaking gas pipes. If you have seen anything suspicious in the area, or have any information relating to these crimes, please contact PC Sharon Coe at Bury St Edmunds on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Gerardine takes the stage at 02

Proud moment for 10-year-old as she performs a solo for a crowd of 9,000

A SCHOOLGIRL saw her dreams come true when she performed a solo at London's O2 Arena.

Ten-year-old Gerardine Nacionales, of Mallow Walk, Haverhill, travelled to London as part of an anniversary showcase for her theatre group.

Gerardine is a member of the Cambridge East branch of Theatretrain, a company which offers professional training in the arts for young people aged between six and 18.

She was chosen from thousands of auditionees to perform Evanescence's Bring Me to Life in front of an audience of 9,000 people at the O2 on July 14.

Ruth McKechnie, Director of Theatretrain for Cambridge East and Kings Lynn, says that disaster almost struck just before the performance when Gerardine lost her voice with laryngitis.

She said: "She had a really sore throat and didn't even have a voice a few days beforehand."

"But her performance

was amazing. People were saying they had goosebumps."

Mum Cherry, 47, said she knew her daughter would triumph, no matter what.

She said: "The day before she was crying when she woke up."

"I told her not to worry and she would be able to sing. And she did."

"She was told to rest her voice and I told her not to chat but when we got to the O2 I could see her chatting with her friends."

Gerardine, who attends St Felix R C Primary School, performed alongside 3,500 other Theatretrain members in the special show which celebrated the group's 20th birthday.

The mum-of-two said: "She was so so happy and she told me at the end, 'Mummy, mummy, I did it.'"

Ruth said the performance was the culmination of almost a year's work.

She said: "We have just worked so hard and it was wonderful to see all of the children's little faces when they walked into the place. Some of them have never seen anything like that before."

Despite crying her eyes out before the performance, Gerardine said she took her mum's advice to stay calm.

As soon as she hit the stage, she forgot her worries.

She said: "At first it was scary because you could see everyone and the audience was filled with people but when I started to sing it was fine because I knew that I knew everything and that I would do well. I was so proud."

Theatretrain's next project is taking them over the water to France, after the group were invited to perform in a Disney parade at Disneyland Paris.

Visit www.theatretrain.co.uk for more information.

Crowds gather for country horse fair

TRADITIONAL country pursuits were at the forefront of the Horseheath Country Fair as almost 2,000 people turned out for the event.

Raising money for East Anglian Air Ambulance, the day included events such as dog shows and gun dog demonstrations, clay shooting and pony gymkhanas.

Sponsored by Carter Jonas, the day also pulled in the punters with a beer tent, barbecue and a number of locally sourced produce stalls.

Partner in Carter Jonas Richard Hatch said: "The show is a calendar event in so many rural communities across the country. These shows are an opportunity for those working in the agricultural sector and those who live in the countryside to come together."

Mum angry over 'broken pledge' of no windows

FAMILIES are angry that windows in a new housing development face on to their homes, despite being promised that would not be the case.

Residents on Hamlet Road, Haverhill, say they were told that the 91-house development on Hamlet Croft would not have any windows built looking on to their homes.

But a window has been put in on the north-facing side of the Bloor Homes development.

Mother-of-one Anita Bates was shocked to see the window looks on to her bedroom window.

She said: "When the plans were passed, we were told all the houses facing towards Hamlet Road would not have windows looking on to it.

ELEANOR DICKINSON

"And now, all of a sudden, a house has appeared with a window facing Hamlet Road.

"It looks right into mine and my daughter's windows. She was horrified, and I have been keeping the blinds closed ever since."

The 47-year-old added: "The council promised there wouldn't be any windows looking onto our house, and now there are. It's a complete invasion of our privacy.

"When I approached the council last week, a planning officer said they would be in touch.

"Apart from a confirmation letter, I have so far heard nothing back from them."

The development of 91 homes on the former football ground was given planning permission in August last year, despite residents voicing their fears over traffic, sewage and flooding.

Cllr Gordon Cox for Haverhill East has shown his support for the people on Hamlet Road.

He said: "I have been contacted by a couple of residents about the development of Hamlet Croft.

"If plans were presented and residents raised their concerns and were then told there will be no windows built, then no windows should be put in place

"The developer has failed to take on board the concerns of the residents."

A council spokesman said: "We are in the process of investigating this and will respond directly to the resident."

Nobody from Bloor Homes was available for comment.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Dean Ashby court case

FOLLOWING our report last week, 'Man found with child porn', we have been asked to point out that a man caught with indecent images of children as young as two, no longer lives at Balsham Road, Linton.

Self-employed decorator Dean Ashby, who was found with 1,875 child abuse images on his computers when police visited his previous home in January, now lives in Princess Drive, Sawston.

Ashby was given a 16-month prison sentence suspended for two years by a judge at Cambridge Crown Court.

He was also ordered to complete a sex offender's programme, do 150 hours of unpaid work and made the subject of a sexual offences prevention order for 10 years.

Girls paint for Help for Heroes

FIVE teenagers from Suffolk will be putting on an exhibition this Saturday to raise money for Help for Heroes.

Brooke Goodwin, Caitlin Davies and Hollie Grieg from Castle Manor School, Haverhill and Emily Morton and Gabby Pars from Ormiston Academy in Sudbury will be creating artworks from paintings, sculptures and even the odd monologue to feature in the display.

The event will take place at the Haverhill Ex Servicemen's Club, and will be followed by a barbeque and raffle, with all proceeds going to the charity.

Organiser Jo Kindred said: "All the girls wanted to do this because they felt servicemen were not as respected in the community as they should be.

"This exhibition will not only give them a chance to showcase their talent, but it will allow them to show there are young people out there who do care about their community and want to make a difference."

The exhibition will take place on Saturday, 27 July starting at 2pm.

Cordial producer comes to Linton

AN EAST Anglian cordial producer will be showcasing his new produce at The Linton Kitchen this Saturday.

Edward Stone, the producer behind Edward's Cordial, will be at the Kitchen to celebrate them stocking his new range of cordials made with British ingredients.

Visitors will be given the chance to meet Mr Stone to learn more about the making process, as well as sampling the new flavours.

Among the new flavours will be Rhubarb & Lavender, Elderflower & Honeysuckle, or Strawberry and Mint, which can then be mixed with sparkling water, lemonade, or even added to a favourite tipple.

Mr Stone and his cordials will be at The Linton Kitchen, on the village High Street, this Saturday from 9.00am.

ARTWORK: The student's work will be put into the market square in September.

Students' design will turn heads in Market Square

AN INNOVATIVE sculpture, designed by school students, will be placed in Haverhill's Market Square.

Art pupils at Samuel Ward Academy have spent the best part of two years working towards the creation of a three-dimensional head sculpture, which includes sunglasses made from monitors.

The work was done as part of a project to get more art into Haverhill, supported by the Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP).

The idea was carried forward by the academy's head of art Neil Williams.

He said: "This is going to be Haverhill's only commissioned work of art.

"The head will run for 24 hours a day, showing TV adverts for local businesses in the town, created by media students and hopefully there will be live feeds from concerts and other events in the town."

"It's the only one of its kind anywhere."

The head has been made using metal rods and recycled materials to try and keep the budget as close to zero as possible.

Mr Williams said that they also hope to include a tablet device on the head in the future to make it interactive and allow users to select what they want.

The head is going to be put onto a raised platform on the square in September, surrounded by seating so people can watch.

Pupils from Year 7 and Year 10 at Samuel Ward have worked hard on the sculpture, from initial ideas to the final physical steps.

Mr Williams said he is proud of the work they have put into the project as a school.

Volunteers are also welcome to get involved in the project.

Sea Scouts fund raise for new building project

PAST and present members of the 2nd Haverhill Sea Scout Group came together for their 50th anniversary fun day last week.

Combining fun with fund raising, the group also managed to raise £300 to put towards a new building project at the Scout & Guide H.Q. in Colne Valley Road.

Attended by the group's former leaders, former and current Scout members took part in activities from a beat the goalie competition, rain rides and balloon modelling, as well as the annual family tug of war competition.

There was also a treat in store as the Search and Rescue Dog Team gave a special demonstration of their training.

Group Chairman of the 2nd Haverhill Sea Scout Group Richard Strugnell said: "The event was lucky enough to have the support of several local businesses including Mitchells Motors, Chilford Hall Vineyard, Frankie and Benny's, Costa Coffee and Tesco.

"Thanks to their generosity and those taking part on the day £300 was raised for the appeal.

"The day went very well and it was nice to see the leaders who helped found the group. It was a good atmosphere with the parents joining with the children in the activities."

Following the fun day almost 100 people enjoyed a hog roast and camp fire, with 50 of them staying the night for a parent-child sleepover.

On the day after, parents and children were able to experience a friendly family competition in air-rifle shooting, archery and other scouting activities.

Helpful teenager with over 50,000 followers

DETERMINED TO HELP: Sam has launched a website offering advice and support to young people.

SAM Carvalho has been through a lot in his 19 years. After battling an eating disorder and depression during his early teens, he now suffers from a range of health problems, which require him to take a cocktail of drugs every day.

But despite his daily battles, the teenager is dedicated to helping others, and has recently been nominated for a YOPEY (Young People of the Year) award for his hard work.

Last September Sam set up the website Stand Up, Stay Strong (standupstaystrong.com). The free, confidential website is designed to be a place where children, teenagers and young adults can seek advice for a range of issues including depression, eating disorders and self harm.

"If I hadn't been through what I have then I don't think I would have thought about setting up the site," explains Sam, from Cambridge. "Because I've been through some of the things that people using it are experiencing, I feel I can give advice."

Sam started suffering from eating disorders and depression from the age of 12. He doesn't know what the trigger was, but at this stage in life he drastically reduced the amount of food he ate and, at his worst, would only consume water for fortnights at a time. He then started bingeing and purging and was obsessed with exercise.

"I despised food and everyone who ate it," admits Sam. "I had a fear, and still do, of eating new things and considering I was already a fussy eater before, this aided me in not eating. I basically lived off diet Coke and chewing gum."

Sam was 16 and weighed just six stone when he finally asked for help.

After overcoming an eating disorder and depression, Sam Carvalho created Stand Up, Stay Strong: an advice website for young people battling their own demons. Here he tells Louise Martin why he enjoys helping others, and how he stays positive...

Encouraged by a friend to go to his GP, he was referred to Brookside Family Consultation Clinic in Cambridge and with the help of a psychiatrist and friends and family, a year later his weight had improved and he had stopped taking anti-depressants.

"I think if there had been a website around like mine when I was ill then my issues could have been resolved a lot quicker as I could have confided in someone a lot sooner," he says. "Once I asked for help it didn't take me too long to recover."

In its short life time, Stand Up, Stay Strong has helped more than 1,500 people with their problems. With in excess of 50,000 followers on Twitter, Sam is one of the most followed people on the social networking site in Cambridgeshire and his profile has helped launch the global website.

Visitors can use Stand Up, Stay Strong anonymously if they wish or can share their name and age with Sam. If they would like Sam to respond to their message they are asked to leave an email address, but the site can also be used simply as a place in which people can write down their feelings and not receive any feedback.

"When I was ill I found that sometimes just writing to someone, even if I didn't want a response, and just getting it out of my mind would help," says Sam.

"One thing my psychiatrist told me was to write negative thoughts on a piece of paper, put it in a box and bury it in the garden – as ridiculous as that sounds it did help."

Sam explains that the majority of people do require a response and this is something that he does on an individual basis.

"I've had training with Lifesavers, the NSPCC and ChildLine, but I don't claim to be an expert; I'm not here to give medical advice, I just want to give the same advice that a friend or family member would give, but perhaps the person doesn't feel able to turn to them at that time."

In some cases Sam has had to inform ChildLine, the NSPCC and even the police about individual messages.

"When I have concerns for a person's well-being, for example if they are self-harming or have suicidal thoughts, then I have to seek further help."

"There have been about 30 cases where I have done this. It is a big responsibility but I do feel like I'm helping and I've had a lot of parents get in touch wanting to thank me."

Once Sam had come up with the idea for Stand Up, Stay Strong, his good friend Kieran Eves designed the site and continues to help maintain it.

As well as running the site, Sam works in The Cambridge Toy Shop and is also a devoted volunteer, regularly helping out at Jimmy's Night Shelter and as a first-aider for the British Red Cross.

He is constantly busy but what makes Sam's dedication to helping others even more inspirational is that he is currently battling a string of health problems, which have meant he has spent a number of weeks in hospital this year alone.

Sam suffers from immuno-deficiency, which means his immune system cannot fight infections, which leaves him susceptible to illnesses and he constantly suffers from colds.

"Because of the immunodeficiency I always feel unwell, but the problems that I have are still being investigated by many hospital departments," says Sam.

Sam has an irregular heart beat which can cause him to faint frequently. He is also due to have an exploratory operation on his abdomen and chest soon and suffers from back and knee problems and migraines.

"I spent the first week of 2013 in the resuscitation ward due to my heart problems," says Sam. "All of these problems have become worse in the last three years. I'm not sure if it's to do with the eating problems, if I wrecked my body from there, but it does feel like my body is breaking down bit by bit."

Although Sam managed to achieve above average grades in his GCSEs, his further education years were not as successful.

"I went to Long Road to study A-levels in business, maths, ICT and psychology but my mental health still wasn't brilliant at that stage so it was decided I should take a year off and continue working with my psychiatrist at Brookside," explains Sam.

"I went back the following year but then half-way through the year I got appendicitis and had to have an emergency operation." Because of his immunodeficiency there were complications following the surgery and, as a result, he fell behind with his studies and didn't complete the academic year.

"After that year I decided that I wasn't going to try sixth form for a third time, so I went to CRC and started the uniformed services course because I would like to become a paramedic.

"Again I was just constantly unwell, this time with back and knee problems, so again I had to stop. I've stopped attempting education now as it's just not for my health."

Even when Sam is feeling unwell he does his best to reply to messages on Stand Up, Stay Strong. "When I'm in hospital I'm still on my phone replying to people," says Sam. "As long as my health doesn't get any worse I hope to expand the site. When I'm really unwell there is a notice on the homepage to let people know that replies may be slow."

Sam takes a complex combination of medicine every day, which leaves him drowsy – but despite his ongoing health problems, he remains positive about the future and says this is down to the support of his friends and family and girlfriend, Liberty.

"We've been together seven months now and I told her everything from the beginning so that she was sure she wanted to take me on," smiles Sam.

"I do get down sometimes, but I just try and find the positive in everything, and when you spend time at places like Jimmy's it makes you realise that even if you've got problems you're still much better off than a lot of people."

EATING DISORDERS: THE FACTS

According to Beat, the national charity which provides helplines, online support and a network of self-help groups for adults and young people battling eating disorders, there are approximately 1.6 million people in the UK currently affected by an eating disorder.

Reports vary, but many estimate that males make up anywhere from 10 per cent to a quarter of sufferers. Males with eating disorders may be less likely to be diagnosed due to a lack of awareness, or may be less likely to come forward due to a perceived stigma.

While some people may show an obvious weightloss others do not. The majority of eating disorder sufferers do not have anorexia. Those suffering from bulimia may be within the normal weight range or may be overweight, while those with binge eating disorder are often overweight.

If you think you, or someone you know, may be suffering from an eating disorder, the first thing to do is contact your GP. The Beat helplines are available for support and information, and can give suggestions for how to approach your doctor – visit b-eat.co.uk.

Poplar Farm Riding Stables

Poplar stables always popular

IF you have a pony-mad child, then Poplar Farm Stables might just have the perfect holiday activity to keep them happy, entertained and educated.

Poplar Farm Riding Stables, which owner Kay Burtenshaw has been running for 18 years, are offering a series of full- and half-day Pony Days, which Kay describes as "a training day but fun, teaching you all you will need to know to have your own pony".

The training days will be running every Thursday throughout the summer holidays, with all-day sessions running from

ADVERTISING FEATURE

10.30am to 4.30pm for £45, and three hour half-day sessions starting at either 10.30am or 1.30pm at £28. Depending on demand, sessions may also be running on Saturdays.

With at least 15 horses and ponies at the stables, care is taken to match up the rider with the animal that is best suited to their needs and levels of expertise. Children from as young as five years old are catered for, up to teenagers of 17. Riders are separated into groups appropriate to their age as well as their ability.

During the day, the kids can try everything from grooming, washing their pony's mane and tail, plaiting, cleaning saddles and bridles and mucking out stables as well as riding. By the end of it they are likely to have a much clearer idea of the responsibilities – and the fun – involved in owning a horse or pony of their own.

The stables, which are British Horse Society-approved for their facilities and standards of instruction, also run courses for adults, and can meet most people's needs: from experienced riders who used to own their own horses but now just want to ride from time to time, through to complete novices. They even run experience sessions like the elegant, ladylike side-saddle riding, and carriage riding.

So if you think the equine life might be for you, or you have a son or daughter keen to take the next step towards owning a pony or horse of their own, Poplar Farm Stables is the ideal summer holiday destination. They are based at Brockley Green, near Kedington, Suffolk CO10 8DS, and you can contact them on (01440) 786595 or (07899) 840916, or visit their website at www.poplarfarmstables.co.uk.

Volley ball success for school

PUPILS from the Samuel Ward Academy were celebrating a victory last week after winning the Western Area Mixed Volleyball U15 Championships.

Held at County Upper School, Bury St Edmunds, the school entered two teams of four pupils each.

Playing in the winning team was Chidera Nkem-Paul, Beth Jones, Callum Dray and Cameron Larkin.

PE Teacher Mr Sari said: "All our players did extremely well, congratulations to all that took part.

"This is the last tournament of the school year.

"Well done to all of our students who have taken part in tournaments and individual sporting events, we have had a very successful year."

Also taking part were Conor Rankin, Tyler Bell, Josh Matthewson and Tahnee Perfect.

Mr Sari added: "Also, a big thank you to the PE Department staff who give up their own time to accompany and support them."

Samuel Ward Communication Officer Lisa Taylor said: "We are just really proud of the children. The competition covered such a large area of Suffolk so we are extremely pleased with the pupil's accomplishments."

This was the last volleyball competition until September.

Man in court for supplying drugs

A FORMER drug user encouraged his cousin to drink a fatal dose of methadone, a court heard yesterday.

Brendon Jackson, 28, twice asked Daniel Boyle if he wanted some of the heroin substitute, which he had been prescribed for his own drug use, a jury at Ipswich Crown Court was told this week.

Mr Boyle, 24, a steel erector from Haverhill, was found dead in a hotel room near Bristol the following day after drinking from the bottle offered by the defendant.

Jackson, of Westwood Deals, Kedington, is on trial after pleading not guilty to a charge of supplying a class A drug.

The court heard that Jackson and Mr Boyle were cousins and good friends and had both been working for the same Essex-based construction company on a contract at Bristol in October 2011.

Prosecutor Andrew Thompson said: "The family have been torn apart by this death. There has been a breakdown in the relationship between the two sides of the family."

Jackson was arrested seven months later when fellow worker James Manley, who had been staying at the same hotel, contacted police to say he had not told the full story in his initial statement.

Giving evidence, Mr Manley said he had been present when Mr Boyle, who he described as being "significantly affected" by cannabis, was offered methadone by Jackson on the evening of October 11, 2011.

After seeing what was happening, Mr Manley said he told Mr Boyle "not to be an idiot" but Mr Boyle had taken the bottle and "taken a swig" from it.

Mr Manley said he had come forward after talking with Mr Boyle's father but denied that he had been pressurised to make a fresh statement.

At the time of Mr Boyle's death he had not wanted to be seen by others as a "grass".

The cause of Mr Boyle's death was not immediately ascertained but later toxicology tests identified the cause as a reaction to methadone. Mr Thompson said medical experts said a single dose of methadone could prove fatal to someone who was not used to the drug.

Mr Thompson said Jackson had been legally prescribed methadone to help him deal with his own drug use and he had obtained it from a pharmacy in Haverhill, after signing an agreement that he would safeguard it and not share the methadone with others.

Following his arrest Jackson told police that he never encouraged Mr Boyle to take methadone or handed him the bottle after taking his own prescribed dose.

He said that Mr Boyle had "helped himself."

The trial continues.

KEEPING COOL: Animals at Linton Zoo take it easy in the heat of the sun

Animals chill out in the heat

KEEPERS at Linton Zoo have been using a variety of ways to keep animals cool in the hot sunshine. With temperatures going through the roof over the last week, keepers have been putting in extra work to make sure the animals have all they need to keep them happy, especially plenty of clean, fresh water to drink. At Linton there are insulated houses, shady areas to rest under, and pools which animals can use as a cool retreat. The Brazilian tapirs from the rainforest need sunscreen to be applied to their ears to avoid sunburn. The zoo's eight Aldabran giant tortoises were the envy of many visitors when they were seen experiencing an extra special treat splashing around under the sprinklers. The Giant Sulcata tortoises were also given a bath to cool them down.

They enjoyed splashing around with keeper Mikey Peck. Kim Simmons, director at Linton Zoo, added: "Keepers like to cool off too. Mikey can't resist a splash around with one of our Giant Sulcata tortoises." But some animals loved basking in the sunshine, including the African lions Zuri and Safina while the Australian red kangaroos are experts at chilling out in hot temperatures.

Get on your bikes for annual ride

CHURCH goers will be getting in training as sponsor forms are released for the Suffolk Historic Churches Trust (SHCT) sponsored bicycle ride.

In the 32nd annual event of its kind, cyclists and walkers from across the county will be able to take part in the trip.

The sponsored ride and walk will take place on September 14 and is open to all those who are interested.

Cyclists and walkers can raise sponsorship by visiting as many churches as they like from 9am and 5pm on the day of the ride.

Cambridgeshire and Essex are also organising their own bike rides on the same day. Any sponsorship money is shared equally by the Churches Trust and the church or chapel named by the cyclist.

Last year, cyclists raised over £155,000.

Six Haverhill churches will be open for visitors including, St Marys, Downs Baptist Chapel, Methodist, Old Independent, St Felix and West End, some of which have been benefited from funding from SHCT in the past.

For sponsor forms, contact Marty House on 01440 762570.

Having a hoot on a scooter

THE sound of 100 Vespa engines roared across the county as scooter enthusiasts from around the world gathered in Haverhill on Sunday.

Members from The Haverhill Circle Scooter Club met at the weekend for the fourth annual Scootermania event.

With the sun shining, both scooter lovers and family met at The Birdbrook Tavern for an afternoon of live music and games.

One of the event's organisers Robbie

ELEANOR DICKINSON

Watts said: "This year's was perhaps the biggest and best we've had. The Tavern was just jam-packed and the music was fantastic."

"I think there were almost 500 people crammed into the pub in the evening and not one had a bad word to say about the event."

Riders from as far afield as Thailand joined in the celebrations, with trophies awarded for the furthest traveller as well as the best scooters on show.

The day kicked off at 12.00pm, with a short ride from The Tavern through the town, giving members the chance to show off a range of vintage and modern scooters.

Returning to The Tavern, punters were treated to a number of live acts throughout the afternoon and the evening, including Cambridge Ska band, The Big 10.

There was also plenty to keep the children happy, from a bouncy castle to a game of tug of war.

Mr Watts said: "It was a great day for all the age groups."

"You've got the scooters, the music and the social side, so it's great all round."

"It was also the best weather we've had in years, hopefully it will be this nice at next year's event."

All money raised will be donated to a local charity.

Storming Bastille

- Weekend TV 26

IT'S not every day you find yourself reassuring the lead singer of one of the hottest bands around – about to appear at the Secret Garden Party that he's probably going to be alright, writes Ella Walker.

But Bastille's frontman Dan Smith won't be convinced. We're talking back-up plans. "I really wanted to be a journalist," says the skinny-jeaned, bouffant-haired Londoner. "But it was quite a lot of work and holding down a day job, trying to be a journalist and trying to write songs and do gigs and stuff all at the same time was a bit much, and things started to go alright on the music side of things."

To be fair, things have gone more than alright. In fact, it doesn't look like the 25-year-old needs to worry about having a back-up plan at all. Skittish, friendly and irrepressibly excitable, Dan has been backed by good mates Kyle Simmons on keys, Will Farquarson on bass, keys and acoustic guitar, and Chris "Woody" Wood on drums since 2010, but this year things have been slightly hectic. They've gone from playing tiny gigs in dingy little clubs, to a sold out autumn tour, teams of YouTube hits and a packed summer of festivals, including local types Secret Garden Party and Standon Calling.

This year they smashed their way into pop-consciousness with the jittery, synthy Flaws (now edging towards 4 million YouTube views), before claiming Number 1 with their debut album, Bad Blood (written by Smith), in March.

He said: "I am so excited about Secret Garden Party, it's one of my favourite festivals. It's such a fun festival and I love how much effort goes into it, how like the bands that are playing are almost secondary to how awesome the site is and how they do it up."

● Bastille, Secret Garden Party, Abbots Ripton, Huntingdon, Thursday, July 25 – Sunday, July 29. Tickets £185 - £195 from secretgardenparty.com. The band is also appearing at Standon Calling near Bishop's Stortford, Hertfordshire, Friday, August 2 – Sunday, August 4, tickets £99 from standon-calling.com.

Reluctantly, Logan agrees and he is shocked to find Shingen (Horiyuki Sanada) on his deathbed. . .

But the twists and turns in the plot conceal few surprises and the inclusion of a second mutant is completely unnecessary, presumably a concession to the comic book universe to which Wolverine must return in next summer's X-Men: Days of Future Past.

Holiday homework

IT'S THE same every year; the garden reaches its peak with borders bursting into bloom, patio plants beginning their dazzling displays, and fruits swelling in the vegetable garden – and then you go on holiday for two weeks...

Of course, if you have friendly neighbours or family nearby who can water and deadhead your plants while you're away, then you don't have much to worry about. Their reward can be harvesting some of your vegetables and eating them when they are fresh, or treating themselves to a bunch of cut flowers from your plot. If they help themselves to crops that need regular picking, like beans and courgettes, the plants should still be cropping well for when you return home too.

But if you don't have such kindly helpers, how are your plants going to manage in your absence? Luckily, there are some measures you can take to help your plants survive for a while without you.

If you have patio plants, water them well before you go away, maybe even dunking the pot into a bigger bucket of water so it soaks the compost completely from below, then put all the pots together (this encourages humidity) in a shady spot so there's less evaporation while you're away.

If you have space, dig a small hole in the border soil in a shady spot and rest your hanging basket in the hole, watering it well so it is completely soaked. Some of the escaping water will moisten the soil underneath, helping keep your plants damp in your absence.

If you haven't invested in automatic irrigation systems you can set up a temporary automatic watering system by submerging strips of capillary matting in a trug full of water and then running the end of the strips to your containers. The matting absorbs and holds water which can be drawn up by the soil in the pots. Set the system up a week before you go to ensure it's working.

Alternatively, cover the soil surface with water-absorbing gel, watering it so that it swells and absorbs water. This provides a protective barrier to stop water evaporating from the compost and also gives the compost some moisture. The crystals will also soak up and hold moisture if it rains while you're away.

Remove all open flowers from healthy bedding plants so they produce a flush of new blooms on your return and feed them with a liquid fertiliser, following the instructions on the packet. Don't be tempted to give them any extra feed. You can take the shears to some annuals, trimming off the old blooms to make way for new buds to develop, which should give you some colour on your return.

Cut the grass and trim the edges before you go and it will survive quite happily without you. If it's long on your return, don't cut it short immediately or it will turn yellowy brown. Instead, raise the mower blades for the first cut and gradually lower them over the next two or three.

Established borders should be all right without water for a week or two, as the roots of established plants will go deep into the soil for moisture. However, make sure you weed before you go, as weed seedling can soon take over. Give the area a good water and then mulch with organic matter to help retain the moisture.

Hopefully, you will return from your break to find a garden not as tired as it might have been, and ready to be revived.

Audi adds colour to A1 with S line Style options

AUDI has added a colourful twist to its A1 models in the shape of the A1 S line Style Editions.

The S line Style Edition upgrade includes metallic or pearl-effect paint finishes in a choice of Ice Silver, Phantom Black, Misano Red or Glacier White. Also also feature gloss black door mirror housings. An additional black styling package also brings a gloss finish for the single frame front grille surround and a matt number plate holder.

Inside the A1 S line Style Edition, the air vents are finished in either Misano Red or Glacier White when these exterior colours are chosen, or in gloss black in conjunction with the Ice Silver and leather sports seats and three-spoke S line sports steering wheel, plus the high level of equipment already fitted to S line models including powered windows and mirrors, a split/folding rear seat, air conditioning, the CD/tuner with SD card reader and Bluetooth mobile phone interface.

Available with the 1.2 TFSI, 1.4 TFSI and the 1.6 TDI, the Style Editions add around £2,200-worth of design and technology-oriented options for a premium of £950 above the equivalent S line included is a gloss black finish for the contrasting roof in three-door versions, and a fully gloss black contrasting roof in Sportback models, both of which black finish for the grille, fog light surrounds and Phantom Black exterior options. Add to this the part-model. Prices will range from £18,125 to £20,605.

ON SALE: The Vauxhall Adam

Find out if you're in with a shout for Vauxhall's Adam

LOCAL retailer, Murketts of Cambridge, has announced that the recently launched Vauxhall Adam will be the first car in its class that drivers can hold a conversation with!

When fitted with Vauxhall's innovative IntelliLink infotainment system, the urban-chic city car is now available with full integration for Siri Eyes Free, the unique and intelligent iPhone Integration assistant from Apple that helps drivers get things done whilst behind the wheel, simply by asking.

Adam drivers can give voice commands to the car and receive a verbal response back. Using a steering wheel-mounted button, customers with a compatible iPhone can instruct Siri Eyes Free to perform a number of tasks, while enabling them to keep their hands on the wheel and their eyes firmly on the road ahead.

To find out more visit Murketts of Cambridge at 137 Histon Road, call (01223) 706706 or go to www.murketts.co.uk

Hydrogen power is due on UK roads

EMISSION-FREE hydrogen powered vehicles will soon be operating in the UK.

It is the intention that five Hyundai ix35 Fuel Cell models – the first production fuel cell cars in the world – will be an integral part of the London Hydrogen Network Expansion (LNHE) project.

Hyundai Motor, as a supplier to the LNHE project, will join the existing consortium of companies with expertise in hydrogen transport infrastructure and operation, working to establish the UK's first hydrogen transport network covering London and south east England. The LNHE project, a government-backed initiative co-funded by the Technology Strategy Board, will put hydrogen-fuelled vehicles into daily business use and deliver the refuelling infrastructure to support their operation.

These fuel cell vehicles will be leased to key public and private fleet users in the capital. They are among the first of 1,000 examples that Hyundai has committed to produce between now and 2015 and are built on the same production line, in Ulsan, Korea, as the Tucson.

The majority of those 1,000 cars will be available in Europe where the European Commission has established a number of schemes, such as the Fuel Cells and Hydrogen Joint Undertaking (FCH JU), to promote the use of hydrogen as an energy carrier with zero carbon content.

As the first car company in the world to assemble line-produce fuel cell vehicles, Hyundai has kickstarted

Europe's Hydrogen Roadmap and accelerated plans for London to become one of the world's major hydrogen capitals.

For Hyundai, the philosophy behind the ix35 Fuel Cell project has been to produce a car that offers the same practicality, safety levels and driving experience as an ix35 driven by an internal combustion engine, but with zero tailpipe emissions. That means comparable performance – 100mph maximum, 0-62mph in 12.5 seconds and a range of almost 370 miles from each tank – but with no emissions: the only emission is water.

Just as importantly, a Fuel Cell vehicle can be refilled in two to three minutes and, in use, an ix35 Fuel Cell demands no compromise from the driver.

Although Hyundai has been developing its fuel cell vehicles for more than 15 years, it is only now – with the start of a viable hydrogen refuelling network in place – that it can consider putting a fuel cell car into series production.

So after a number of 'false dawns' for hydrogen-powered cars, this time the fuel cell vehicle has a genuine, clear and realistic future here in the UK. Much of this is down to the work of the London Hydrogen Partnership and that of other projects such as the London Hydrogen Network Expansion project which is led by Air Products.

With these key partners working together – and two hydrogen fuel stations are already open in the capital – hydrogen mobility is about to become a reality.

THE HYUNDAI ix35 FUEL CELL: Refill in three minutes compares very well with four-hour electric car recharge

Notice to Advertisers - Weekly News Series It is a condition of acceptance of advertisement orders that the proprietors of the Weekly News Series do not guarantee the insertion of a particular advertisement on a specified date, or at all although every effort will be made to meet the wishes of advertisers; further they do not accept liability for any loss or damage caused by any error or inaccuracy in the printing or non appearance of any advertisement, and reserve the right to edit or delete any objectionable wording or reject any advertisement. Although every advertisement is carefully checked, occasionally mistakes do occur. We therefore ask advertisers to assist us by checking their advertisements carefully and advise us immediately should an error occur. We regret that we cannot accept responsibility for more than ONE INCORRECT insertion and that no republication will be granted in the case of typographical or minor changes which do not affect the value of the advertisement. To ensure consistently high service levels, calls are randomly monitored by a sales manager. Mini marvels: Participants in the tournament at Haverhill Tennis Club.

Hindmarch takes victory as Red

SAUL Hindmarch emerged as the winner at Haverhill Tennis Club's Mini Red tournament for players aged eight and under.

Playing on a court measuring 12 metres by six metres and with low bouncing balls, the youngsters taking part played in a series of intense and high quality competition.

Matches were played in a round robin format initially, with Hindmarch, Jayden Forsdike, Arthur Ferrar and Sam Fowle making it through to the semi-finals.

Hindmarch beat Fowle 10-2 but Forsdike had to dig deep in his match to beat Ferrar 10-8.

The final featured long rallies and exciting play but Hindmarch prevailed 10-6 to win another Mini Red tournament.

In the third-place play-off, Ferrar beat Fowle 10-6.

The club passed on its thanks to umpires Harry Sendall, Aaron Thorne, Jandre Wolmarans, Rachel Jeffs and Nicole Pike.

Late drama costs Paffett vital points

GARY Paffett remains upbeat about his chances of winning the DTM title despite a disappointing finish at the Norisring.

After a drive-through penalty, two safety car phases and an enforced change of strategy, the Haverhill driver was in contention for victory until two incidents with Eduardo Mortara with just two laps remaining ended his race.

Both drivers were given five-place grid penalties, suspended for two races, following the clashes, though Paffett felt Mortara was to blame.

"It was a difficult race," he said.

"Even so, I was in with a chance of the win right through to the last couple of laps. I overtook Edoardo Mortara on his final pit stop, but then he (missed his braking point and) drove into the back of me.

"He was clearly at fault. When we collided for the second time, I was on the inside and he drove into me again.

"Unfortunately, that was definitely not the way I wanted the race to turn out. I've lost vital points in the title chase."

Paffett is fifth in the standings, 24 points behind leader Mike Rockenfeller, but there were signs at the Norisring that his Euronics Mercedes AMG C-Coupe has the pace to record more wins in the second half of the season.

After qualifying in third, an eventful race began badly for Paffett as he was given a drive-through penalty for jumping the start.

After rejoining at the back of the field, the team changed strategy when the safety car was deployed on lap 12 so he made both of his pitstops during this period.

Paffett then did a great job of gaining places and was in second place when, with two laps to go, he was hit from behind by Mortara moments after overtaking him. Paffett continued to push on but as he hugged the inside line going into Dutzendteich, Mortara collided with his rear wheel, spinning him around and ending both of their races.

While clearly disappointed, Paffett took encouragement from his car's performance and the fact fellow Mercedes driver Robert Wickens won the race.

"The car felt strong, just like it had at Lausitzring and we had a great qualifying," he said.

"I have to thank my team for doing a great job and congratulate Robert (Wickens) for his first victory and pole.

"We're looking good for the future and although I'm 24 points behind the leader we're only half way and still have everything to play for."

The championship resumes in Moscow on August 3 and 4.

Winner: Chris Jay. CP

Jay makes it a hat-trick

CHRIS Jay retained his singles crown at the Haverhill Thursday Invitation Pool League Finals and Presentation night at the Ex-Servicemen's Club.

Jay, of the Barny Army, won with a 3-0 clean sweep over Matt Skelton from the Punch Tavern to take the title for the third year in succession.

The doubles final was won 3-1 by Matt Hoadley and Scott Williamson from the Barny

Army, who teamed up for the first time this season.

The Barny Army team continue to dominate the league, winning the Division One title, the League Cup, the Division One Cup and the Fox Doubles Cup.

Division Two title winners were the Punch Drunks.

Shane Leatherland from the Suffolk Punch B won the player rankings for the season with a 93.8 per cent win average over the entire season.

Ace Callum gets up and Brunning

CALLUM Brunning took to Division One cricket like a duck to water as his excellent bowling spell helped Haverhill defeat Maldon by four wickets in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

The 16-year-old bowler had a memorable first-team debut as he recorded figures of 4 for 41 from 16 overs, with his efforts coming as their opponents were kept to 180 for 9.

Joe Woodley, who was in charge of the team for the day as Simon Youngs was ill, supported the teenager with 3 for 53.

Haverhill made a flying start with the bat thanks to Adam Dellar and Amit Gupta (36) putting on 58 in the first eight overs, before Kyle Blanchard (28) joined Dellar at the crease to build a 66-run partnership.

Dellar was finally removed for 60 and Haverhill then stuttered to 138 for 5, but Liam Savage, who remained unbeaten on 22, got them to 184 for 6 and across the winning line.

"I was really proud of the boys and Callum had a sensational debut," said Woodley. "He bowled like he'd been playing for the first team for years."

"Liam batted how we know he can and Adam again looked in great form. It's another good result and keeps the season going in the right direction."

Ben Wilkins and Liam Botten spun Haverhill II to a 65-run win over Maldon II in Division Five.

Haverhill were put in to bat and Arvid Gundersen (35) and Steve Fox (36) were the top scorers as they posted 182 for 9.

Martyn Wilkins (1 for 12) and Josh Ruthven (2 for 15) reduced Maldon to 10 for 3, but the hosts then recovered to 80 before the next wicket fell.

Botten and Wilkins then took over, the former finishing with 4 for 26 and the latter 3 for 27 as Maldon were removed for 117.

In the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League, Division Two, Weston Colville were beaten by 82 runs by Eaton Socon.

Socon posted 185 for 9 in their 48 overs, with Matt Daniels the pick of the Colville bowlers with 4 for 66. And although Alex Meddle struck 41 in reply, he had little support and the visitors were all out for 103.

Horseheath went down by nine wickets to Cambridge St Giles in the Mr Cricket CCA Senior League, Division One.

Dan Goldsmith amassed 56 in Horseheath's 158 all out, but St had few alarms in reaching 159 for 1.

It's 50 not out for Ketteridge

MICK Ketteridge fittingly remained not out as Horseheath celebrated their club legend's 50th season playing for the team in style on Sunday.

The 63-year-old left-hander has enjoyed every minute of his half-century spent at the club, and he was honoured when a Mick Ketteridge XI took on Horseheath in a 25-over contest.

And his unbeaten 23 helped his team post 183 for 4 in their innings, before Horseheath sportingly declared on 183 for 6 to ensure Ketteridge did not end up on the losing side after Jake Ellis had struck 94.

"I'm not one for going over the top with celebrations," said Ketteridge. "The years have come and gone so quickly, and I've played so many games."

"It's just been a way of life for me. It's been a lot of Saturdays playing cricket and 42 years of midweek cricket, as well as lots of other games. The list goes on and on."

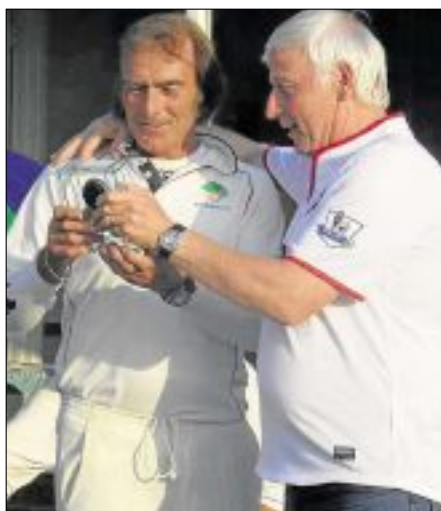

Ketteridge started playing for the club in 1963 having been born in the village, and his brother Alan, who is fast approaching 50 years with the club himself, joined him soon after.

As well as his sibling, he has also played alongside his daughter Sally and nephews Jason, Rob and Stuart in Horseheath kit.

"I used to bowl many overs and that was my main weapon," said Ketteridge. "I bowled until about four years ago, but I've got a niggling arm problem."

"I can still bat and if I can still help the team with 20s, 30s and the occasional 40s then I'll keep going as long as I've got two good legs and two good eyes."

"There are times when I've come home on a Saturday and thought that I've had enough, but time's a great healer."

And having the support of his wife Carol has also helped Ketteridge rack up his memorable 50.

"I've had a good understanding wife," he said. "She's involved with the club and has been treasurer for many years. She loves the social side of it."

> Golf

On the march:

Farren and Sail are top of the tree in Shrubberies

JUDY Farren and Mary Sail were the winners of The Shrubberies at Haverhill Golf Club.

In the ladies' section fourball betterball stableford, they scored 44 points to edge out Sally Price and Carol Day on countback. Gerry Wheatley and Pat Wellstead were third with 43.

Wheatley was the clear winner of the Ladies July Midweek Stableford with 41 points, cutting her handicap by two to 21. Farren was runner-up with 37 and Pauline Calmet was third with 36.

Pat Kennedy was triumphant in the Ladies Saturday Stableford with 40 points, cutting her handicap by two to 15. Sheila Price was second with 36 and Lyn Fish third with 34.

Haverhill are through to the semi-finals of the Tolly Cobbold Cup after beating Fynn Valley.

They got off to a good start but were soon pegged back by Fynn Valley and it was Haverhill's last pairing of Scott Turner and Dave Mayers who dug deep to win both the 17th and 18th in order to level the match overall and take it to a play-off.

Captain Andy Fish choose Ollie Stevenson and Peter McLennan to contest the decider based on their play throughout the day.

And they held their nerve to win the first extra hole with a bogey to send Haverhill through to a semi-final against Ipswich GC on August 18.

Free-scoring Blackjacks crush Coyotes

HAVERHILL Blackjacks continued their winning run with a comprehensive 19-5 victory at home to Milton Keynes Coyotes.

Jerred Esstenson returned to pitching duties. He started the game well and he did not give up a run until the fourth innings.

By then the Blackjacks were 14-0 ahead with runs scored by Ryan Pflugh (3), Jerred Esstenson (3), Matt Schellhass (2), Seb Schmidt (2), Randy McDonald (2), Steven Esdale and Rob Wood.

The Coyotes' pitching began to get a foothold in the game in the fourth and fifth innings as they managed to stop the home side's free scoring and managed to put some runs on the board.

Mo Hamdan, Sid Benbow (2) and Olly Calcutt all ran in to leave the score at the end of the fifth innings 14-4.

The sixth innings saw the Coyotes score their only other run through Sid Benbow.

The home side finally killed the game off by scoring another five runs, the highlight being Esstenson's home run and Dan Grimwood's running between the bases to leave the score at 19-5 at the bottom of the sixth.

Matt Schellhass finished off the Coyotes at the top of the seventh and the "Slaughter" rule was brought in.
